DEATH OF J. G HOLLAND.

Dr. J. J. G. Holland died in New York October 12th. Josiah Gilbert folland has been long and most favorably known to the literary world under his nom de plume of " Timothy Titcomb." as the editor of Scribner's Monthly (now The Century), as a pub- sticks. lic lecturer and as an author of great industry in various departments of literature. He was born in Belchertown, Massachusetts, July 24, 1819. He was educated for the bar, and practiced law for three years, afterwards assuming the editorship of a literary journal published at Springfield, Massachusetts. Later, he was for a year Superintendent of Schools at Vicksburg, Mississippi. In 1849 the became associate editor of the Springfield Republican, and two years the same.

BLAINE AND GARFIELD.

Blaine's letter to Garfield, accepting the tender of the State Department, is published for the first time. It shows the great personal ariendship which ever existed between these two great men. It thus concludes:

"I accept it as one of the happiest circumstances connected with this affair that in allying my political fortunes with yours, or rather, for a time merging mine in yours, my heart goes with my head, and that I carry to you not only political support, but personal and devoted friendship. I cannot but regard it as somewhat remarkable that two men of the same age, entering Congress at the same time, influenced by the same aims and cherishing the same ambitions, should never for a single moment, in eighteen years close intimacy, have had a misunderstanding or coolness, and that our friendship has steadily grown with our growth and strengthened with our strength. It is President, painted by artist McClelthis fact which has led me to the conclusion embodied in this letter, for The lovers of Garfield's name and however much, my dear Garfield, I fame in that City will subscribe at might admire you as a statesman, I least one-half of the required sum. would not enter your Cabinet if I did The picture will be exhibited here ten not believe in you as a man and love you as a friend."

E. D. Wheeler sworn-Live in Oakland. I was elected President of the N. & O, R. R. I succeeded Woods who gave a written resignation. (Judge Wheeler related what occurred at the time of the shooting nearly as told by McMechan and Coffin. His own part of the affray is tous given). "I presided at the meeting and said 'that the at the meeting and said 'that the meeting must be perfectly fair.' I suggested in the morning that we had better have the Sheriff there. Mr. Coffin laughed at the idea. To etate all that happened is beyond my power, but I will state all I remember. When Fowler came in and ordered us out I told him to take a seat, when he said Fowler came in and ordered us out I teld him to take a seat, when he said "come on boys," I felt that the mob was upon us. I was alarmed for I knew they had more men then we had.
